

As a developer, I have worked extensively with modern frontend technologies such as React, Next.js, JavaScript, and TypeScript, focusing on creating intuitive user experiences and clean, maintainable code. I enjoy solving complex problems, collaborating in agile teams, and staying up to date with the latest industry trends.

What motivates me most is the opportunity to face new challenges and grow as a professional.